Olivia Torma

Olivia Torma is a local couture designer, dressmaker and hand embroidery artist specialising in the haute couture embroidery technique crochet de Luneville (aka tambour embroidery).

Olivia's talent for the technique has been recognised by the prestigious British embroidery house Hand & Lock in London who have offered her an internship in their atelier.

Olivia designs and makes one-of-a-kind handmade couture pieces and offers bespoke design services. She is currently working on a capsule collection of embellished luxury resort wear clothing featuring hand painted silk embroidered with metallic threads, sea shells, Swarovski crystals and beads.

Olivia teaches tambour embroidery classes to enthusiasts and textile artists in Cleveland. For more information please visit www.mooshi.com.au.
